

Most Popular BLACK DOG BREEDS

Thinking about adopting a dog? Every breed has their own distinct characteristics which make them the best fit for an owner's lifestyle. When you decide to adopt a dog, consider giving a home to one of these Top Ten Most Popular Black Dog Breeds:

Black Lab

So, speaking of man's best friend, Labrador Retrievers or black labs are the most popular black dog breed across the globe. Black labs are known for loyalty and friendly demeanors.

Poodle

Many people think that poodles are French, but they have a German heritage. Many standard poodles are black, very smart and highly energetic. Poodles are great swimmers, too.

Scottish Terrier

Scottie dogs are from Scotland and are fearless and brave, despite their small size. If you adopt a Scottie, make sure you have a nice piece of earth for them to dig and explore.

Schipperke

The Schipperke is a medium-sized dog from Belgium that is fluffy, black and soft. These dogs have a unique mane and are quite often used as watchdogs due to their brave nature.

Great Dane

Great Danes are intimidating due to their size, but they are known as the gentle giants of the dog kingdom. They are peaceful and friendly, with an elegant appearance once they lose their puppy clumsiness.

Belgian Shepherd

Another black dog breed from Belgium that is popular among owners is a Belgian Shepherd, called Groenendael. These dogs are active and intelligent, which makes them eager and easy to train.

Yorkshire Terrier

Yorkshire terriers have personality to spare and are prized by their owners for their loving nature and quiet demeanor. Depending on this toy breed's lineage, it may have long silky hair or a short hypoallergenic coat.

Rottweiler

A Rottweiler makes a loyal and good-natured pet that will protect and guard its family. These dogs are from Germany, originally used on farms as working dogs. They are devoted to their owners and brave.

Newfoundland

Newfoundland dogs were historically used as working dogs on the water in Canada. They are big, fluffy black dogs with a loving and calm demeanor. These dogs are great swimmers and are loyal to their owners.

Doberman Pinscher

Dobermans are from Germany and have been used as guard dogs for years. These black dogs are strong and stubborn, very intelligent and energetic, too.

Owning and caring for any dog, regardless of color, size or temperament, is a big responsibility. Potential owners should always do their research on breeds before making a decision. At the end of the day, your new family member can provide years of love, companionship and enjoyment, as long as you put in the effort.